

Every two seconds, someone in our country needs blood. Do you know someone who has been in an accident, had surgery, or has a serious illness? Your blood can help save lives. Sign up online to donate at redcrossblood.org or call 1-800-RED-CROSS.

Every day, patients with cancer, leukemia, heart disease, sickle cell anemia and other serious illnesses may need blood transfusions to survive. Accident and trauma victims need blood too. Times of natural or man-made disasters can escalate the demand for blood, or contribute to blood shortages in impacted areas of the country. Your donation can help make the difference between life and death.

Choose to stand out and help save a life. The United States alone relies on at least 38,000 pints of red blood cells per day to help treat patients in need. Help maintain the blood supply. Be a hero.
